ImaarishaSRHR

PHASE 2 · VIDEO SLATE · KINETIC & CINEMAGRAPH EDITION

The five films, without a film crew

A rewrite of the ImaarishaSRHR video treatments and scripts for a no-live-action production route: kinetic typography, character stills from the illustrator bible, and cinemagraphs — one moving element per shot. Built to stop the muted, vertical scroll for a fraction of animation cost.

Same cast. Same voice. Same evidence. A production model a small team can actually make — and keep making.

THE PRODUCTION SHIFT

Why we are making the films this way

The original slate assumed live-action shoots. This edition retires that. Live actors are expensive, slow to schedule, and — the honest problem — the format is so common in the SRHR feed that a viewer clocks it as "an NGO health video" before a word is spoken. This route keeps the whole slate inside the Achieng family's illustrated world and builds each film from three cheap, controllable layers instead. [4]

3.6%	muted	1 cast
of digital SRHR content is affirming — the feed is crowded and mostly negative; recognisable art cuts through	most vertical video autoplays silent — kinetic captions carry the message with no sound	the same illustrated family across every film compounds recognition shot to shot, video to video

The three routes, and when to use each

Route	What it is	Use it for
Kinetic-typography + character stills	Animated captions carry the argument; a couple of character poses and a plate hold the scene. Reads as "video" in the feed but is mostly text and art.	The whole spine of every film — the explaining, the myths, the steps.
Cinemagraph	A still frame where exactly one element loops — steam off tea, a blink, a curtain, a phone glow. Uncanny, premium, scroll-stopping.	Openers and emotional beats — the first 3 seconds that must stop the thumb.
Motion still (parallax)	A static illustration given gentle depth: foreground and background drift a few pixels apart, or a slow push-in.	Any beat that would otherwise sit dead — cheap life between cinemagraphs.

The rule that keeps it cheap and classy

One moving element per shot. Everything else holds perfectly still. That single rule is what separates a cinemagraph from a busy animation: it costs one masked loop, not a rigged character, and the stillness around the motion is exactly what makes the eye stop. Every beat in the scripts below names its one motion. [3]

THE VISUAL SYSTEM

How each film is assembled — five layers

Every shot is the same stack. A designer builds it in After Effects, Cavalry, or even CapCut/Photoshop timeline — no animator required. The only new art is the character pose library, which the illustrator draws once from the existing character bible and the whole slate reuses. [3]

Layer	What it holds	Where it comes from
1 · Plate	The background — the compound at dusk, the kitchen, a phone screen, a flat brand-colour field.	Illustrator backgrounds; or a solid ImaarishaSRHR colour.
2 · Character still	One or two poses of the beat's character, on transparent PNG.	The pose library (drawn once from the character bible).
3 · The one motion	The single looping or drifting element — steam, blink, hair, glow, parallax.	A masked cinemagraph loop, or a 3–5px transform.
4 · Kinetic caption	The on-screen words, animated in — the message that survives muted autoplay.	The script's "on-screen" line, in the brand type.
5 · Voice + button	VO in EN / Kiswahili / Sheng over the same picture; soft musical button.	Recorded once per language; picture unchanged.

The cinemagraph & motion recipe book

Motion	How it's made	Feeling
Steam off tea / ugali	A single looping smoke element masked over a still pot.	Home, warmth, the everyday.
A slow blink / breath	Two eye poses (open/closed) cross-faded on a 4–6s loop; chest rises 2px.	The character is alive, present, listening.
Hair / cloth / curtain drift	A soft wind displacement on one masked region.	Time passing gently; calm.
Phone / screen glow	A pulsing light layer under a face lit by a phone.	Disinformation arriving; the digital street.
Parallax push-in	Foreground and background drift 3–5px apart, or a 4% slow zoom.	Momentum without a cut.
Caption kinetics	Words wipe, weight-shift or count up; key word lands on the beat.	The argument, made legible in silence.

Slate-wide specification

Field	Detail
Master format	9:16 vertical, 1080×1920; export 1:1 and 16:9 from the same layered project
Length	60–120s per film (see each); 30s and 15s cutdowns from the same beats
Captions	Burned in on every version — the film must work with sound off
Voice	EN, Kiswahili and Sheng VO over identical picture; subtitle track per language
Type	ImaarishaSRHR brand type; one accent weight for the key word per caption

Field	Detail
End-card	Identical across all five: logo mark, handle, tagline — the recognition button
Tools	After Effects / Cavalry (or CapCut + Photoshop timeline); stills from the illustrator bible

Consistency is the mechanism. Because the cast, the plates, the type and the end-card repeat across all five films, every shilling of production compounds recognition — the entertainment-education effect the strategy depends on. Keep faces, clothing and colour identical to the character bible in every pose. [3]

Demystifying SRHR

Field	Detail
Logline	SRHR is not a clinic word or a foreign idea — it is the everyday health of the people you love.
Duration	75–90 seconds
Format	Kinetic typography + character stills; cinemagraph opener. No live action.
Audience	General public 18–35; entry-level, low prior knowledge
Values frame	Health & family as the door; "rights" arrives only at the very end

Evidence anchor. Only 8% of Kenyans link SRHR to rights and 2% to wellbeing, while 30% think first of clinics. This film's whole job is the reframe: begin at health and family, arrive at rights. [1]

Synopsis

We move through ordinary Achieng-family life as illustrations, not footage — a mother and daughter cooking, a couple planning, a grandmother braiding hair. A gentle narrator dismantles the jargon one still at a time, each landing a plain-language definition as a kinetic caption. Only at the close does the film name it: "This is sexual and reproductive health. And yes — it is your right." The audience arrives at rights through health and family, never the other way around.

Treatment

The open door film. Warm illustrated plates of home life; one cinemagraph — steam off the sufuria — stops the scroll in the first two seconds. Each following beat is a character still with a single gentle motion (a blink, hair drifting, a parallax push-in) under an animated definition. Warm acoustic Kenyan score; no fear, no on-screen statistics, no clinic. Let the audience recognise themselves before a single fact is offered. [3]

Build sheet — beat by beat

◆ 1 Cold open — the everyday, alive

STILL & POSE The compound kitchen at dawn, golden light; Aunty Beth at the sufuria, mid-stir, warm.

THE ONE MOTION Cinemagraph: steam curls off the pot; everything else dead still. This is the thumb-stopper.

VOICE "When you hear the letters S-R-H-R… what do you picture? A clinic? A poster? A word from far away?"

◆ 2 For most of us — not much

STILL & POSE Kevo, half-smiling, a small shrug pose against a flat brand-colour field.

THE ONE MOTION Motion still: a slow 3% push-in; a single blink on the beat.

VOICE "For most of us, it doesn't mean much at all."

◆ 3 A mother, choosing

STILL & POSE Mama Grace feeding one child while another does homework; calm, capable.

THE ONE MOTION Cinemagraph: a curtain and the steam behind her drift; Grace holds still, present.

VOICE "But here's the truth. It's already part of your life. It's a mother — like Grace — deciding when to have her children, so she can give each one her best."

◆ 4 Two people, planning together

STILL & POSE Agneta's cousins — a young couple — heads together over one phone.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: the phone screen glows and softly pulses; the caption types in beside them.

VOICE "It's a couple planning their future together. Deciding, as partners."

◆ 5 A girl who can ask

STILL & POSE Agneta and Mama Grace at the table; Agneta mid-question, open and unafraid.

THE ONE MOTION Motion still: gentle parallax between the two figures; Grace blinks, warm.

VOICE "It's a young woman — like Agneta — who can ask about her body, and get a real answer, without shame."

◆ 6 Men, inside the conversation

STILL & POSE Baba Tom and a community health promoter on a bench, relaxed, mid-nod.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: leaves drift past in the foreground; the men hold.

VOICE "It's men who are part of the conversation — not outside it."

◆ 7 Health. Family. Dignity. Choice.

STILL & POSE A gentle montage of all four stills, each held for a beat, warm eye-contact.

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic captions: each word lands on a musical hit; a soft cross-fade between stills.

VOICE "This is health. This is family. This is dignity. This is the right to decide about your own life."

◆ 8 And yes — it's your right

STILL & POSE Settle on one calm Achieng face, direct to camera; then a clean end field.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: a single slow blink, then the caption resolves to stillness.

VOICE "This is sexual and reproductive health. It's already yours. And yes — it is your right."

◆ 9 End-card

STILL & POSE ImaarishaSRHR logo mark, handle and tagline on brand field.

THE ONE MOTION Caption button only; logo settles.

VOICE "(no VO) — soft musical button."

SRHR & Disinformation

Field	Detail
Logline	A rumour can travel faster than the truth — and cost real lives. Here's how to slow it down.
Duration	75–90 seconds
Format	Kinetic typography + phone-screen motion; a Nurse Wanjiru still "insert". No live action.
Audience	Digitally active 18–35; WhatsApp and X users
Values frame	Protecting the people you love; sharing responsibly is an act of care

Evidence anchor. One HIV faith-healing wave reached ~16.8m in eight weeks; the correction lagged. The film models the pause that beats the forward.[2]

Synopsis

A single WhatsApp forward blooms across a network as animated type and glowing screens — no footage, all motion graphics in the Achieng world. It reaches millions before the truth catches up. Nurse Wanjiru appears as a calm illustrated still to set the record straight, and the film hands the viewer a three-step reflex — Pause, Check, Ask — before the same network is reframed as a force that can carry truth.

Treatment

Tense, kinetic, then calm. The message itself is the character for the first half: a chat bubble that multiplies, glowing phone after glowing phone. Uncle Silas's forward is the human hook — his face lit by the screen. Nurse Wanjiru's still is the anchor of trust; her one motion is a steady blink to camera. The turn is a colour shift from anxious to warm as fear becomes care.[2]

Build sheet — beat by beat

◆ 1 It starts with one message

STILL & POSE A single WhatsApp-style bubble on a dark field; Uncle Silas's face faintly lit at the edge.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: the phone glow pulses on Silas's face; the bubble text types in.

VOICE "It starts with one message — forwarded by someone who loves you. It sounds urgent. It sounds like it's trying to help."

◆ 2 The false claim

STILL & POSE The bubble enlarges: "HIV can be cured by faith. Stop your medicine."

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: the words assemble, then a red "FALSE" stamp wipes across — the only bold colour.

VOICE ""HIV can be cured through faith — stop your medicine." It's false. But it's moving fast."

◆ 3 How fast it moved

STILL & POSE A field of phone screens multiplying outward from one point.

THE ONE MOTION Motion: screens replicate and glow in a spreading loop; a counter races upward.

VOICE "In just eight weeks, it reached almost seventeen million people."

◆ 4 The correction came too late

STILL & POSE The same field, now grey; one small "correction" note appears far too small, far too late.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: the counter freezes; a single grey screen dims out.

VOICE "The correction came weeks later. By then, some people had already stopped their treatment."

◆ 5 Nurse Wanjiru sets it straight

STILL & POSE Nurse Wanjiru still, calm, direct to camera, warm clinic-corner plate behind.

THE ONE MOTION Cinemagraph: a steady blink and a 2px breath; everything else still — trust holds.

VOICE "NURSE WANJIRU: There is no faith cure or herbal cure for HIV. ARVs keep people healthy and alive. Please — never stop your treatment."

◆ 6 The three-step reflex

STILL & POSE Three kinetic words stack on a clean field: Pause. Check. Ask.

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic captions: each word snaps in on a beat; a small icon draws beside each.

VOICE "So before you forward that message — three things. Pause. Check where it came from. And ask someone you trust."

◆ 7 The same network can carry truth

STILL & POSE The phone-screen field returns, now warm gold instead of anxious blue.

THE ONE MOTION Motion: the glow spreads again — but this time it's warm, and it's truth spreading.

VOICE "The same network that spreads fear… can spread truth. That part is up to us."

◆ 8 Sharing carefully is care

STILL & POSE A quiet still: Silas, calmer now, thumb hovering — choosing not to forward.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: the phone glow settles from pulse to steady.

VOICE "Sharing carefully isn't small. It's how we protect the people we love."

◆ 9 End-card

STILL & POSE ImaarishaSRHR logo, handle, tagline.

THE ONE MOTION Caption button; logo settles.

VOICE "(no VO) — musical button."

SRHR Myths & Facts

Field	Detail
Logline	The warning came from someone who loves you. But love can carry a myth. Here are the facts.
Duration	80–100 seconds (or 30s single-myth cutdowns)
Format	Nurse Wanjiru still + bold kinetic "Myth / Fact" splits. No live action.
Audience	Women 18–35 and partners; also for older women (Mother & Aunty)
Values frame	Honour the loving intention behind a warning while correcting the information

Evidence anchor. The most trusted channel — the aunty — also carries the most misinformation. Lead with the fact; name the myth once; never shame the messenger. [4]

Synopsis

Nurse Wanjiru, as a calm illustrated anchor, honours the love behind the warnings the audience has heard — then walks three myths into the light, each as a bold kinetic Myth-slash-Fact split. Aunty Beth appears as the loving source, never the villain. It closes on permission: you are allowed to ask.

Treatment

Warm, clear, unhurried. Wanjiru's still holds the screen with a steady blink; the teaching happens in type. Each myth arrives in an anxious grey, then the fact wipes it warm — the same colour turn as the reframe itself. Built so each Myth/Fact pair also stands alone as a 30-second cutdown for the Mother & Aunty channel. [4]

Build sheet — beat by beat

◆ 1 Honour the love first

STILL & POSE Nurse Wanjiru still, warm; a small inset of Aunty Beth, kind, at her shoulder.

THE ONE MOTION Cinemagraph: Wanjiru blinks and breathes; Beth's inset holds soft.

VOICE "NURSE WANJIRU: Some of the warnings we hear about family planning came from people who love us — a mother, an aunt, someone like Aunty Beth. They were protecting us, with what they believed was true."

◆ 2 Myth 1

STILL & POSE Split screen: "MYTH — Family planning makes you barren." in anxious grey.

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: the myth assembles, then the screen waits — no motion but the words.

VOICE "NURSE WANJIRU: So let's look, together. The first: that family planning makes you barren."

◆ 3 Fact 1

STILL & POSE The grey wipes to warm: "FACT — Fertility returns after you stop."

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: a warm colour wipe left-to-right replaces myth with fact.

VOICE "NURSE WANJIRU: It does not. Modern contraception does not cause infertility. When you decide to have children, your fertility returns."

◆ 4 Myth 2

STILL & POSE "MYTH — The pill damages your womb." anxious grey.

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: myth assembles on the held field.

VOICE "NURSE WANJIRU: Next: that the pill damages your womb."

◆ 5 Fact 2

STILL & POSE Warm wipe: "FACT — Safe, well-studied; if one method doesn't suit you, switch."

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: the colour wipe; a small method-swap icon draws in.

VOICE "NURSE WANJIRU: The pill is one of the most studied medicines in the world. If a method doesn't suit you, we simply find one that does."

◆ 6 Myth 3

STILL & POSE "MYTH — Contraception means you plan to be unfaithful." grey.

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: myth assembles; a faint crack line under it.

VOICE "NURSE WANJIRU: And this one, which hurts many homes: that using contraception means a woman plans to cheat."

◆ 7 Fact 3

STILL & POSE Warm wipe: "FACT — Planning together is what respectful partners do."

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: the wipe; two figures' hands meet in a small still beside the text.

VOICE "NURSE WANJIRU: No. Planning your family together is what caring, respectful partners do. It protects the whole family."

◆ 8 You're allowed to ask

STILL & POSE Wanjiru still, open posture; Beth's inset now nodding, softened.

THE ONE MOTION Cinemagraph: Wanjiru's steady blink; Beth's inset gives one slow nod.

VOICE "NURSE WANJIRU: If someone you love gave you a warning, they meant well. But you are allowed to check. You are allowed to ask me, or any health worker, your own questions."

◆ 9 Your body. Your decision.

STILL & POSE Clean field, kinetic line: Ask. Choose. Decide — for your health.

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: each word lands; resolves to stillness.

VOICE "NURSE WANJIRU: Your body. Your health. Your decision — with the facts."

◆ 10 End-card

STILL & POSE ImaarishaSRHR logo, handle, tagline.

THE ONE MOTION Caption button; logo settles.

VOICE "(no VO) — musical button."

Latest Developments on SRHR

Field	Detail
Logline	Where does SRHR in Kenya actually stand today — honestly, and with reasons for hope?
Duration	90–120 seconds
Format	Kinetic data-typography + animated stats + character stills. No live action.
Audience	Engaged public, partners, community leaders
Values frame	Progress is real and shared; change is happening and you are part of it

Evidence anchor. The rights are on paper; the shift is in practice — the CHP network, faith-led family planning, trusted clinicians and creators reclaiming the feed. [4]

Synopsis

A confident, data-forward film that reads the honest state of play and then turns to what is genuinely shifting — carried by animated statistics and the now-familiar faces of Wanjiru, Kevo and Brenda as illustrated stills. It ends on a challenge, not a victory lap: Kenya is ready; are we?

Treatment

The numbers are the motion here. Big figures count up as kinetic type over map and doorstep plates; each proof point brings in a familiar character still to keep it human, not corporate. No B-roll footage — animated data and the cast carry it. Ends on the slate's signature line. [4]

Build sheet — beat by beat

◆ 1 The law is clear

STILL & POSE A clean field; the word "right" set large in brand type over a faint map of Kenya.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: a slow parallax drift on the map behind the held word.

VOICE "Kenya guarantees every citizen the right to the highest standard of health — including reproductive health. That's the law."

◆ 2 Paper vs practice

STILL & POSE Two columns of type: "on paper" / "in practice"; the second heavier, greyer.

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: the two columns slide in and hold in tension.

VOICE "But rights on paper don't always reach real lives. For many, judgment, distance and old fears still stand in the way."

◆ 3 Something is shifting

STILL & POSE The grey warms; the word "shifting" assembles from scattered letters.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: letters drift together into the word on the beat.

VOICE "And yet — something is shifting. Quietly, powerfully, across the country."

◆ 4 100,000+ CHPs

STILL & POSE A doorstep plate; the figure 100,000+ counts up huge.

THE ONE MOTION Motion: the number counts up; a small ring of CHP figures fades in around it.

VOICE "Over a hundred thousand community health promoters now carry accurate information to the doorstep — trusted neighbours, close to home."

◆ 5 Faith-led family planning

STILL & POSE A warm community plate; "675,000 reached" lands.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: the counter races to 675,000, then holds.

VOICE "Where faith leaders became allies, hundreds of thousands were reached with real information — proof that engagement works."

◆ 6 Reclaiming the conversation

STILL & POSE Split of two familiar stills: Nurse Wanjiru and Kevo mid-frame.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: Kevo's phone glows; Wanjiru gives a steady blink.

VOICE "Nurses like Wanjiru are speaking under their own names. Young people like Kevo are making SRHR content in their own language. The digital street is being reclaimed."

◆ 7 Real voices beat fear

STILL & POSE Brenda still, quiet strength, direct to camera.

THE ONE MOTION Cinemagraph: a single slow blink and breath — a lived story, holding.

VOICE "And real stories — told by the people who lived them, like Brenda — are moving communities in ways no poster ever could."

◆ 8 Made by Kenyans

STILL & POSE A montage of all the stills so far, each held a beat, warm.

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: "Made by Kenyans" lands over the settling montage.

VOICE "These developments aren't happening to Kenya. They're being made by Kenyans. By all of us."

◆ 9 Kenya is ready. Are we?

STILL & POSE Clean field; the challenge in brand type; then the tagline.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: the question resolves; the tagline fades under it.

VOICE "Kenya is ready. The question is — are we? Respectfully. Relentlessly. Together."

◆ 10 End-card

STILL & POSE ImaarishaSRHR logo, handle, tagline.

THE ONE MOTION Caption button; logo settles.

VOICE "(no VO) — musical button."

Where to Get Safe & Accurate SRHR Information

Field	Detail
Logline	Good information exists — here's exactly where to find it, and how to tell it apart from the noise.
Duration	75–90 seconds
Format	Kevo still "host" + iconographic kinetic animation + captions. No live action.
Audience	Youth 18–24 especially; anyone unsure who to trust
Values frame	You deserve real answers, from people who actually know — with dignity, no judgment

Evidence anchor. Youth trust peers and Sheng creators above institutions — so Kevo hosts, and the checklist is the takeaway asset.[1]

Synopsis

Kevo hosts as an illustrated still in a Sheng-forward, fast-cut style — but every cut is a kinetic caption and an icon, not footage. He names three trustworthy sources, hands over a three-question test for any source, and normalises asking. The checklist is designed to screenshot.

Treatment

Fast, friendly, Sheng-first. Kevo's still anchors screen-left with a phone-glow cinemagraph; the content is icons and type snapping in on the beat, muted-feed native. The three-question test is the hero graphic — a clean, screenshot-ready card that also becomes a standalone post and a printed job-aid.[1]

Build sheet — beat by beat

◆ 1 Where do YOU get answers?

STILL & POSE Kevo still, screen-left, phone in hand, direct address; question set big screen-right.

THE ONE MOTION Cinemagraph: Kevo's phone glows and pulses; the question types in.

VOICE "KEVO: Real talk — where do you get answers about your body? TikTok? A friend? A random group?"

◆ 2 Some gold, some harmful

STILL & POSE Two kinetic tags snap in: "solid" (warm) vs "will mess you up" (grey).

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: the two tags flip in on the beat.

VOICE "KEVO: Some of it's solid. Some of it will genuinely mess you up. So here's how to find the good stuff."

◆ 3 Source 1 — a health worker

STILL & POSE Kevo gestures; a clean "1" with a clinic icon draws in.

THE ONE MOTION Motion: the number and icon draw on; a soft parallax on Kevo.

VOICE "KEVO: One — a real health worker. Clinics near you have people trained for exactly this. No judgment."

◆ 4 Source 2 — verified pros online

STILL & POSE "2" with a verified-badge icon.

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: the badge stamps in.

VOICE "KEVO: Two — doctors and nurses who post under their own names, with real credentials. Follow them."

◆ 5 Source 3 — ImaarishaSRHR & your CHP

STILL & POSE "3" with the ImaarishaSRHR mark and a doorstep icon.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: the logo mark settles in; a small ring for the CHP.

VOICE "KEVO: Three — ImaarishaSRHR's own channels, and the community health promoter in your area. Trusted, and close."

◆ 6 The 3-question test

STILL & POSE The hero card assembles: “The 3-question test for ANY source.”

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: the card builds — this is the screenshot moment; motion stops so people can grab it.

VOICE “KEVO: And for anything you see, run this quick test.”

◆ 7 The three questions

STILL & POSE Three lines land: Who’s saying it? · Are they qualified? · Do trusted sources agree?

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: each question snaps in; the card holds, still, to be saved.

VOICE “KEVO: Who is actually saying it? Are they qualified to? And do other trusted sources agree? If not — pause.”

◆ 8 Asking is normal

STILL & POSE Kevo, relaxed, reassuring; “private · for you” tags beside him.

THE ONE MOTION The one motion: phone glow settles; a small lock icon draws in.

VOICE “KEVO: And listen — asking is normal. It’s smart. Services are private, and they’re for you.”

◆ 9 Get real answers

STILL & POSE Clean field; “Get real answers → imaarishasrhr.org”.

THE ONE MOTION Kinetic caption: the CTA lands and holds.

VOICE “KEVO: Get real answers from people who actually know. Start at ImaarishaSRHR.”

◆ 10 End-card

STILL & POSE ImaarishaSRHR logo, handle, tagline.

THE ONE MOTION Caption button; logo settles.

VOICE “(no VO) — musical button.”

PRODUCTION

Making all five — the shared pipeline

Because the five films share a cast, a plate style, a type system and an end-card, they are made as one production, not five. Draw the pose library once; build the kinetic and Myth/Fact templates once; then each film is assembly, not origination.[3]

The one-time build (shared across all five)

- The character pose library — every pose named in the five build sheets, drawn once from the character bible.
- The plate set — dawn kitchen, clinic corner, doorstep, faint Kenya map, network field, clean caption fields.
- The cinemagraph loop kit — steam, blink/breath, hair/curtain drift, phone glow, parallax rig.
- The kinetic-caption and Myth/Fact templates, in brand type, with the count-up number system.
- The identical end-card, and the EN / Kiswahili / Sheng VO and subtitle workflow.

Then, per film

- Drop the film's stills and plates onto the shared templates; time the captions to the VO.
- Add the one motion per beat from the loop kit — never more than one.
- Master 9:16; export 1:1 and 16:9; cut the 30s and 15s versions from the same beats.
- Record the three language VOs over the finished picture; burn in captions per language.

Suggested release sequence

Order	Film	Why here
1	Demystifying SRHR	The open door — reframes the category before anything else.
2	Myths & Facts	Answers the questions the first film surfaces; feeds the Mother & Aunty channel as 30s cutdowns.
3	Disinformation	Arms the audience against the forwards they will meet next.
4	Where to Get Information	Converts intent into action — the screenshot checklist.
5	Latest Developments	The confidence close — progress is real, and shared.

The honest payoff. This route trades a film crew and an animation studio for one illustrator commission and a designer's timeline. The films cost a fraction, ship far faster, survive the muted feed, and — because the family recurs across all five and the wider toolkit — every one makes the next more recognisable.[3]

Respectfully. Relentlessly. Together.
